

Press Release June 2006

RBM Presents

Charred and Dangerous

Charred (VERB): a type of owl; rhymes with lard. Dangerous (ADJ): a word that has no business being paired with Charred except in circumstances where three handsome men perform sketches and sing. Charred and Dangerous (NOUN): very, very funny indeed.

Rob Hamer, Guy Rushworth and David Shelley are Charred and Dangerous - their show consists of sketches, songs and recorded audio sketches that cover their speedy costume changes. Their style is bleak - but their show is slick, their subjects are dark, - but their timing is exemplary, their characters are failures – but their parents love them.

Meet the musical debt-collecting twins from the Gorbals – The Reclaimers. Meet Magic Ian the magician with no act. Kurt Van Rimmer the Dutch Porn star who can't tell his co-star that he's in love with her.....Imagine if there were 3 "Ronnies", add a court order, some amphetamine sulphate and you get close to what a Charred and Dangerous live show is like.

History

Rob, Dave and Guy have been writing together for 3 years. Rob is a Fringe First winner, David has performed with the RSC and Guy has presented on the Sky Active channel.

Charred and Dangerous provide the necessary twist in the Edinburgh cocktail this year. They're that bitter sweet glory hole in the fragrant toilet. What could possibly go wrong.....?
